I have chosen to use a ThreadPool where I am passing tasks. The reason I have decided to make tasks is because tasks are more lightweight than threads. I am using Executor Service so that my tasks are managed efficiently.

I have created an arraylist of transactions.

I have divided the arraylist of transactions as tasks and created as many tasks as number of threads being used.